I am a 24 year old aspiring Filmmaker who owns and operates a RED One Digital Cinema Camera.

I became interested in filmmaking in 2001 when I made an 18 minute silent film with my brother and cousin, as well as a few other short projects using a Nikon Coolpix 900 and iMovie.

I became serious about pursuing filmmaking in early 2008 and began learning FCP.

In January and February 2009 I went to the San Francisco School of Digital Filmmaking <http://www.sfdigifilm.com> (SFSDF) for their five week fictional filmmaking workshop. This was an intensive course which covered the entire filmmaking process, from writing a script, through, pre-production, production, and post-production. During the course I wrote, directed and edited "Give that Man a Drink" <http://vimeo.com/3263750> a six minute comedy, as well as working on the set of 8 other shorts for an intensive 9 days of production.

In 2009 I really got into stills photography <http://stills.tehbendean.com> and realized my passion was cinematography. I began shooting short films and experiments.

I completed REDucation, RED's certified training course in August 2010 in Burbank, CA.

In the fall/winter of 2010 I jumped straight into the industry getting work on my first two major motion pictures in Anchorage AK.

I am hardworking and enthusiastic and am looking for opportunities to work in the Film industry with the goal of becoming a Cinematographer.
